Law School Pro Bono Conference Draws Access to Justice Leaders

Supreme Court Justices Janice Holder and Sharon Lee joined leaders from the Tennessee Bar Association's \(TBA\) Access to Justice Commission to participate in the Law School Pro Bono and Public Interest Conference held in Knoxville, Tenn., Sept 6-7.

Roughly 40 people, including representatives from Tennessee's six law schools, attended the conference to learn about the needs, opportunities and challenges relating to equal access to justice and pro bono legal assistance.

Equal Justice University Slated for Oct. 9-11

More than 200 Tennessee lawyers and advocates are expected to converge at the Millennium Maxwell House in Nashville for the Tennessee Alliance for Legal Services' Equal Justice University (EJU) program, Oct. 9-11.

The EJU will host more than 40 legal education seminars, giving attendees the opportunity to gain up to 15 hours of Continuing Legal Education hours.

Presenters and keynote speakers—including Tennessee Supreme Court Justice Gary Wade, Memphis Mayor AC Wharton, Speaker of the Tennessee House of Representatives Beth Harwell and TBA President Cindy Wyrick—will discuss a wide variety of legal issues with the goal of renewing civil legal service community's commitment to equal access to justice.

More information and registration is available here.
